A SHORT HISTORY ABOUT WAGON WHEEL

In 1947, the Wagon Wheel was built on Old 16, just east of its present location on the opposite side of the road. It was originally built as a party store by a man named Lee Hurley. In 1959, it was purchased by Ron and Dorothy Lenneman. Ron also owned the land across the road. In 1962, that land was purchased by Dick Oakes and Al Vroman, who built a bowling alley called Ever Green Lanes. After a couple of years in business, Ron purchased the bowling alley from them and moved the Wagon Wheel to its present location combining both businesses into one.

In March 1973, Herm and Ken Schrauben purchased the business from Ron and Dorothy. The brothers were known for the antics and personalities. After 11 years, Herm purchased Ken's share of the business. All of Herm's kids worked in the business. Chopper, the youngest of the bunch started working there as soon as he was old enough to stand on beer cases behind the bowling alley counter and collect money.

In June of 1997, Chopper and his wife Jonda purchased the business from his father. In 2000, they decided that if they wanted to be in business and remain a part of the community, they needed to remodel and bring the facility up-to-date.

In the Winter of 2014, Chopper and Jonda decided that the facility needed a facelift once again. After careful consideration and bouncing ideas around, they finalized plans on what you see now. A new bar, a wood-fired pizza oven on the patio, and all new fixtures. In the Spring of 2015, a tornado ripped through portions of Portland. With the help of residents and area churches, they were able to utilize some of the remnants of buildings from the area.

The cobblestone wood behind the bar is all gathered from the Portland Congregational Church, the Portland Baptist Church, and the Portland United Methodist Church. All the wood is from the truss structures and is no less than 100 years old. They also incorporated some of the bricks in the interior.

The barnwood siding is from Wes and Brenda David's barn, and the galvanized metal is salvaged from one of the old Builder's Lumber buildings. The work was all done with the help of Portland's finest contractors, and all equipment was manufactured in Michigan.
